

1500 Launch Bond Drive $4,500,000 Set As Quota

Meetings Held in Narberth, Merion, Bala-Cynwyd and Ardmore; Street Booths Are Opened

With 1500 workers enrolled, the Lower Merion-Narberth Third War Loan campaign opened its drive today for $4,500,000, the quota of the two municipalities to "back the attack."

A series of workers' meetings have been held during the past several days to organize the drive in the various sections of the district. Captain E. W. Bonnaffon, U. S. N., and Henry D. Harrall, Chief Air Raid Warden of the Township, are directing the campaign as co-chairmen.

Merion

In Merion, where J. A. Lynd is in charge of the campaign, the 300 to 400 workers largely drawn from the Air Raid Warden organization were sent off to a flying start by the announcement that Dr. Albert C. Barnes had subscribed $350,000 in bonds on behalf of the Barnes Foundation. This was reported by Greville Haslam, headmaster of Episcopal Academy and a member of the C 10 organization headed by William D. Sherrerd.

Merion bond sellers held a meeting last Thursday night at the Merion War Tribute House at which Lynd outlined plans for the campaign and Clarence E. Hall, chairman for the community during the Second War Loan drive, gave some helpful suggestions based on the experience during that campaign. A "V" chart will be posted conspicuously at the Merion Station to keep residents informed of the drive's progress in that community.

Lynd's lieutenants in Merion will include the following: William J. Mansfield, Jr., Frank E. A. Kne, John H. Odyckie, David S. Soliday, Hugo A. Kennan, Nelson Billington, J. Harry East, H. Albert Nichols, William D. Sherrerd, Dr. Frederick C. Scheiber, Mrs. H. H. Gibson, Jr., Henry S. Neel, and Ormand Rambo, Jr.

Ardmore

The Ardmore section, under the supervision of James L. Gardiner, assistant manager of the Pennsylvania Company, held two workers' meetings Tuesday and another on Wednesday. The Penn Wynne-Overbrook Hills section, where James H. Stevenson, Jr., is chairman, met at the Penn Wynne Fire House with Captain Bonaffon addressing them. Stevenson's lieutenants include Mrs. Thos. T. McCarty, Robert Guarnieri, S. F. Butler, Jr., and Joseph F. Collingwood.

Deputy Tax Collector At Pennsylvania Co.

The Office of the Collector of Internal Revenue has announced that on Saturday, September 11, from 9 A. M. to 12 Noon, and on Monday, September 13, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M., a deputy tax collector will be at the Pennsylvania Company, 7 East Lancaster Ave., Ardmore, for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in the preparation of their returns.

NARBERTH BOYS' CLUB

The Narberth Boys' Club is interested in scheduling football games for the last two Sunday afternoons in September at their home field. The average weight of their Varsity team is 140 pounds and that of their Jay-Vee team is 100 pounds. Further details may be obtained from Joseph Farley.

New C. D. Officials Are Appointed

The Council of Defense of Lower Merion Township, at its Council meeting on September 7, approved appointments of Edwin W. Seamans, Wynnewood, as Controller of Control Center Wardens in the place of Dr. E. C. K. Swing, resigned; also William West, 3d, Wynnewood, as Deputy Controller. Both Mr. Seamans and Mr. West, whose appointments were recommended by Major S. W. Gearhart, Corps commander, have been connected with the Control Center since its organization.

In furthering the work of the Defense Corps, the Council of Defense also approved the appointment of Captain William E. Shaffer as Deputy Corps Commander. Captain Shaffer is head of the detective bureau of Lower Merion Township.

TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR SERVICEMEN

Citizens Meeting Scheduled for Next Wednesday Night

A meeting has been called for next Wednesday evening, Sept. 15, at the Community Building, under the auspices of the Narberth Citizens Committee, to discuss some new plans which have been suggested in connection with the local activities in behalf of Narberth men and women now with the Armed Forces.

Since the war started, nearly 10,000 gifts have been distributed among those who left the Borough to join the Colors and, according to official reports, Narberth's solicitude in this respect has not been exceeded elsewhere in America.

Based on many letters received from the camps and war-fronts, there could be a real increase in the town's population because of the desire of many men to live here after the war as a result of observing Narberth's concern for their comrades.

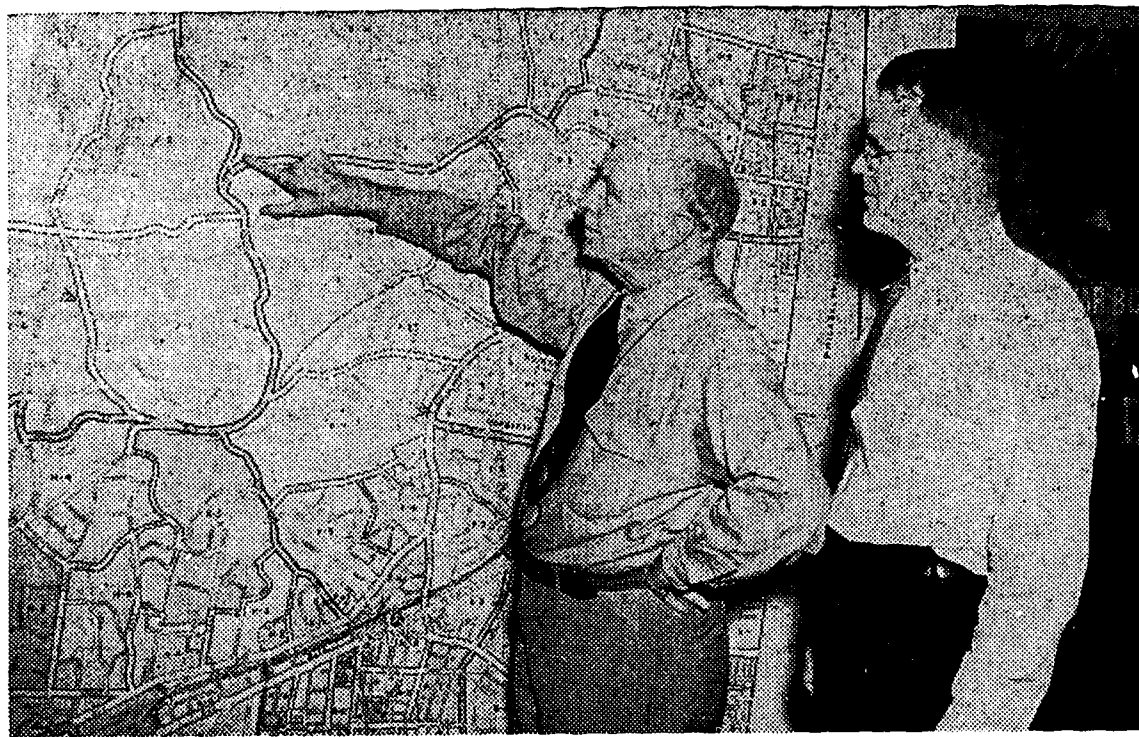

Almost daily, additional recruits enter the Services from the Borough and none of them fails to receive the famous air-revoir package of 15 useful articles, together with a formal letter of appreciation and also a subscription to "Our Town."

Next week's meeting is open to all local citizens and organizations and the committee states that the kin of men and women in the Services will be particularly welcome.

ENTERS VASSAR COLLEGE

Miss Katherine Mudge Ervin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Ervin, Belmont Ave., and Llanberis rd., Bala-Cynwyd, left for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., last week to enroll as a freshman at Vassar College.

LAUNCHING THIRD WAR LOAN DRIVE

Fire Fighting Equipment Arrives

The first allocation of Federal material, comprising fire fighting equipment issued because of the presence of defense plants in Lower Merion Township was received by the Lower Merion Council of Defense through the Council of Defense of Montgomery County.

The Federal materials covers the following: 3 five-hundred gallon Trailer Pump, 12 lengths of four-inch, hard suction hose, and 6 twelve-foot roof ladders and 8 Pump Tanks.

GLOOMY OUTLOOK FOR L.M. 1943 ELEVEN

Coaches Struggling With Green Re- cruits as Practice Starts

Loss of many students to the Armed Services leaves Lower Merion with gloomy prospects for its 1943 football season, it was revealed this week as pre-season practice got under way.

Only three veterans are on hand as the squad prepares to defend its Suburban and Big Six titles. Julius Beeton, at center; Bill Ellmaker, at tackle, and Frank Basile, at tackle, constitute the trio about whom this year's team is being built.

Nearly 50 candidates report daily for morning and afternoon practice sessions; the boys are light and in for a fairly heavy starting eleven experienced, and while prospects are good, replacements are lacking, especially at the tackle and guard posts. The loss of holdovers Bud Cantaralli and Marshall Stuart to the U. S. services is a serious blow to the backfield.

Veteran Frank Basile has looked good in the early scrimmages from his post at left halfback, but the problem of finding him capable running mates from the green material on hand is causing the coaching staff plenty of headaches.

Three Republican candidates were nearing a photo finish this week in their battle to fill two justice of the peace vacancies in Narberth.

The contest will be decided by the voters next Tuesday, with the polls opening at 7 A. M. and closing at 8 p. m.

On the ballot J. Louis Jenkins is listed first, Fred Walzer second and Otto Duer, third. As each man has his own particular following, an unusual turnout for an otherwise quiet election is predicted.

As the campaign went into its last few days charges and counter-charges came from the camps of candidates.

For example, it was reported:

That Harry Mosteller, one of the Jenkins boosters, had expressed the opinion that his candidate was not doing enough to help his own cause; that Otto Duer had applied a deft political touch in lining up the Italian-American vote; that John Batcheller, committeeman, who moved to Narberth from Pittsburgh some years ago, had asserted that Narberth's old-timer, Fred Walzer, must be erased from the political picture.

Evidently discussed by the citizens and the candidates as not being pertinent to a local issue were the charges made early in the campaign that Duer and Walzer were both off the Republican registration for a time. However, both men are now registered Republican, and both, apparently, are willing to agree if one made a mistake so did the other, the result being a tie score.

Meanwhile, county leaders are reported as remaining neutral in the contest, stating that it was strictly a neighborhood matter. Committeemen and women, aside from Batcheller, were maintaining a hands-off policy.

Walzer continues to campaign on a "community service" platform and he is supported in this by the Citizens Committee backing his campaign. Walzer, who served 22 years as a magistrate in the Borough, has opened a headquarters at Haverford and Forrest Aves., where he has campaign cards on display and from where he distributes souvenirs.

Former German Statesman Was Rotary Speaker

The post-war world will need the United States, Professor Wilhelm Sollman, former member of the Parliament of the Republic of Germany and now a citizen of the United States, told members of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday. The need, he said, will be based on this country's position as the economically and militarily strongest nation in the world.

The war could be shortened, said Professor Sollman, if the United States, Great Britain and Russia could agree upon policy. Stalin, in his opinion, is the only one who knows how to talk to the Germans, and he believes that Churchill and Roosevelt should direct their

Perhaps you think, "What does it matter whether I vote?" What if everyone looked at it that way? Where would we be? Remember there are no elections in Nazi occupied Europe. And next Tuesday's Primary is really more important in a way than November's municipal election since in these parts, where the Republican majorities are heavy, nomination on the Republican ticket is tantamount to election.

Another important consideration is this: Under the law, if an elector does not vote at least once every two years, his or her voting registration is stricken from the rolls and it is necessary to re-register completely in order to be eligible to vote. Everyone will want to vote next year, of course, in the presidential election, but if a lot of people don't vote this year, they will have all the bother of re-registering next.

Because the great majority of Narberth citizens work in Philadelphia and everyone reads the city dailies, it may not be generally realized that there are six contests for County offices here in Montgomery County, of which Narberth is a small but not unimportant part. County Commissioners Peters and Hillegass, both candidates for re-election, have made the name of Montgomery County synonymous with "good government" throughout Pennsylvania. They've cut the County real estate

Seek $4,500,000 In War Loan Drive

The Third War Loan Drive starts today with Montgomery County's quota at $23,000,000 to be subscribed in 22 days. Lower Merion Township's share of this sum is $4,500,000.

Issuing agents in this section include the Bryn Mawr National Bank and the Bryn Mawr Trust Co., Bryn Mawr; the National Bank of Narberth, Narberth; the Egyptian Theatre, Bala-Cynwyd; the Autocar Company, Ardmore; the Wissahickon Tool Works, Inc., Bala-Cynwyd, and the Lower Merion Savings and Loan Association, Ardmore.

Registered voters of the Republican and Democratic parties, more than 123,000 strong, will have the privilege of selecting the candidates of their respective parties for one State office and 12 County offices as well as for township and borough offices at the Primary Election on next Tuesday in Montgomery County. The polls will be open from 7 A. M. to 8 P. M.

In boroughs of the County, candidates will be nominated for the offices of Councilman, School Director, Auditor, Justice of the Peace and Constable.

In first class townships, offices for which nominees are to be selected include Township Commissioner, School Director, Auditor, Justice of the Peace and Constable. In one first class township, Abington, a tax collector will be nominated for a two-year-term to fill an unexpired term.

In each election district of the County, electors of both the Republican and Democratic parties will ballot for candidates for Judge of Election and Inspector of Election.

The County Board of Elections has received requests for 221 military ballots from men and women in the service. These ballots have been mailed to the persons requesting them but must be postmarked on or before September 14 in order to be counted. The tabulation of military ballots is not made until September 24, in order to permit time for their return.

Suburbs Start Post-War Planning; Civic Projects To Cost Millions

Concurrent with Philadelphia's post-war plans for modernizing the city, its four most important adjoining suburbs are planning the expenditure of millions to make their communities more desirable as residential areas.

The suburban plan embraces the widening, extension and repair of highways, building of new schools and municipal buildings, extension and enlarging of sewer systems, development and improvement of park and recreation facilities, construction of incinerators and strict enforcement of building codes and zoning regulations.

Upper Darby Township's pressing problem now is trash and garbage disposal. At the present time, eight trucks service the entire community and at the end of each trip must make a one-hour trip to a dump in Collingdale Borough. For this reason, the first thing on Upper Darby's post-war program is the erection of an incinerator. Land for this project has already been purchased in the lower end of the township, and the cost is expected to be around $200,000.

A broad and comprehensive plan of park and recreation area development is considered by township officials as a vital step in the community's growth. A few years ago they spent $500 to have a survey made by the National Recreation Association, and plan to follow its recommendations as quickly and as fully as possible. At the present time only 50 acres of Upper Darby's 7.40 square miles of territory is in park lands, but the plans call for more than 100 additional acres and the expansion and redesign of present facilities.

Lower Merion

In Lower Merion Township, Montgomery County, an overall plan for community development was outlined in 1937 by the township's planning commission under the direction of a paid planning expert, Henry D. Harrall. Many of the recommendations made then have since been carried out. The township has built a modern incinerator, has purchased 170 acres of park land, has made its zoning and building regulations highly restrictive.

Future plans, whose cost is estimated at five million dollars include widening and improving the township's 153 miles of roads, extensions of the sewer system to a few outlying sections not now serviced, an addition to the township building in Ardmore to expand police facilities and provide needed additional space for township offices, and extensive development of the areas now devoted to parks. This last project will encompass the building of tennis courts, ball diamonds and other outdoor sports facilities, and the erection of recreation buildings in each park area with indoor recreation and washroom provisions.

One of Lower Merion's most pressing problems is that of adequate parking provisions in the business sections of Ardmore, Bryn Mawr and Bala-Cynwyd. This has been under discussion for several years, and numerous solutions have been investigated. The business areas are small and congested,

Hitting more timely than during the regular season, Narberth A. A. is at the top of its form and appears a cinch to qualify for the championship series in the Main Line League.

Having captured first place money in the regulation campaign, Narberth holds a 2-0 lead over third place Brookline in the preliminary playoffs and needs but one victory to reach the finals. But just which team Narberth is apt to face in the title series is still a matter for conjecture because the preliminary series between Manoa's defending champions and fourth place Pen-Mar is all square at one victory apiece.

This status was arrived at last Sunday when Narberth blasted Brookline, 10-6, on the strength of a seven-run eighth inning while Manoa likewise came from behind to upset Pen-Mar, 4-2.

Although Gene Davis, Narberth manager, vows his team will pull no punches and versatile Eddie Hare, Brookline skipper, is pledging vengeance when their teams clash in the third game of the series at Narberth, the spotlight this Sunday will fall on the third meeting of Manoa and Pen-Mar at Darby and Manoa Rds., Brookline.

Manoa and Pen-Mar have waged the closest and most interesting battles of the playoffs and the game coming up is the crucial one, because the team winning it will have a big edge the rest of the way.

The veteran Walt Campbell, who limited Pen-Mar to just six hits in registering last Sunday's triumph, is due to pitch again for Manoa, while Pen-Mar figures to come accounted for the only extra base back with Cliff Williamson, who held the defending champs to three hits in their first meeting.

Jim Lattanza did an excellent job on the mound for Pen-Mar last week. He allowed only six hits, but unfortunately he couldn't dispose of Joe Reilly, burly Manoa left fielder, and that cost his downfall. Reilly collected four singles in as many trips to the plate and thereby drove in three runs, enough to win the game singlehanded.

Manoa wiped out a 2-1 Pen-Mar lead by pushing over two runs in the sixth and sewed up the decision with a single counter in the ninth.

Druilick and Wardrop paced the losers with two hits each. Jack Evans, league's leading batsman, didn't get a hit. Ted Westervelt, Manoa captain who played shortstop in the absence of Larry Fille, hit of the game, a double.

The Grist Mill

Just in case you'd forgotten, we have a date next Tuesday. It's an important date and one which should be kept, especially in these days when our democratic form of government is facing a tremendous task throughout the world. How we keep it may determine whether our community affairs will be well ordered, our schools efficiently operated, our taxes wisely spent. And by keeping this date—at the polls Tuesday—we can help preserve and strengthen our system of representative government which is one of the things we are fighting for.

Perhaps you think, "What does it matter whether I vote?" What if everyone looked at it that way? Where would we be? Remember there are no elections in Nazi occupied Europe. Suburbs Start Post-War Planning; Civic Projects To Cost Millions

Concurrent with Philadelphia's post-war plans for modernizing the city, its four most important adjoining suburbs are planning the expenditure of millions to make their communities more desirable as residential areas.

The suburban plan embraces the widening, extension and repair of highways, building of new schools and municipal buildings, extension and enlarging of sewer systems, development and improvement of park and recreation facilities, construction of incinerators and strict enforcement of building codes and zoning regulations.

Upper Darby Township's pressing problem now is trash and garbage disposal. At the present time, eight trucks service the entire community and at the end of each trip must make a one-hour trip to a dump in Collingdale Borough. For this reason, the first thing on Upper Darby's post-war program is the erection of an incinerator. Land for this project has already been purchased in the lower end of the township, and the cost is expected to be around $200,000.

A broad and comprehensive plan of park and recreation area development is considered by township officials as a vital step in the community's growth. A few years ago they spent $500 to have a survey made by the National Recreation Association, and plan to follow its recommendations as quickly and as fully as possible. At the present time only 50 acres of Upper Darby's 7.40 square miles of territory is in park lands, but the plans call for more than 100 additional acres and the expansion and redesign of present facilities.

Lower Merion

In Lower Merion Township, Montgomery County, an overall plan for community development was outlined in 1937 by the township's planning commission under the direction of a paid planning expert, Henry D. Harral. Many of the recommendations made then have since been carried out. The township has built a modern incinerator, has purchased 170 acres of park land, has made its zoning and building regulations highly restrictive.

Future plans, whose cost is estimated at five million dollars include widening and improving the township's 153 miles of roads, extension of the sewer system to a few outlying sections not now serviced, an addition to the township building in Ardmore to expand police facilities and provide needed additional space for township offices, and extensive development of the areas now devoted to parks. This last project will encompass the building of tennis courts, ball diamonds and other outdoor sports facilities, and the erection of recreation buildings in each park area with indoor recreation and washroom provisions.

One of Lower Merion's most pressing problems is that of adequate parking provisions in the business sections of Ardmore, Bryn Mawr and Bala-Cynwyd. This has been under discussion for several years, and numerous solutions have been investigated. The business areas are small and congested,

Hitting more timely than during the regular season, Narberth A. A. is at the top of its form and appears a cinch to qualify for the championship series in the Main Line League.

Having captured first place money in the regulation campaign, Narberth holds a 2-0 lead over third place Brookline in the preliminary playoffs and needs but one victory to reach the finals. But just which team Narberth is apt to face in the title series is still a matter for conjecture because the preliminary series between Manoa's defending champions and fourth place Pen-Mar is all square at one victory apiece.

This status was arrived at last Sunday when Narberth blasted Brookline, 10-6, on the strength of a seven-run eighth inning while Manoa likewise came from behind to upset Pen-Mar, 4-2.

Although Gene Davis, Narberth manager, vows his team will pull no punches and versatile Eddie Hare, Brookline skipper, is pledging vengeance when their teams clash in the third game of the series at Narberth, the spotlight this Sunday will fall on the third meeting of Manoa and Pen-Mar at Darby and Manoa Rds., Brookline. Manoa and Pen-Mar have waged the closest and most interesting battles of the playoffs and the game coming up is the crucial one, because the team winning it will have a big edge the rest of the way.

The veteran Walt Campbell, who limited Pen-Mar to just six hits in registering last Sunday's triumph, is due to pitch again for Manoa, while Pen-Mar figures to come accounted for the only extra base back with Cliff Williamson, who held the defending champs to three hits in their first meeting.

Jim Lattanza did an excellent job on the mound for Pen-Mar last week. He allowed only six hits, but unfortunately he couldn't dispose of Joe Reilly, burly Manoa left fielder, and that cost his downfall. Reilly collected four singles in as many trips to the plate and thereby drove in three runs, enough to win the game singlehandedly.

Manoa wiped out a 2-1 Pen-Mar lead by pushing over two runs in the sixth and sewed up the decision with a single counter in the ninth.

Drulick and Wardrop paced the losers with two hits each. Jack Evans, league's leading batsman, didn't get a hit. Ted Westervelt, Manoa captain who played shortstop in the absence of Larry File, hit of the game, a double.

COUNTY WILL COPY SOLDIERS' PAPERS

No Charges to be Made for Photostatic Work

A procedure has been worked out by Montgomery County Recorder of Deeds John E. Marshall in co-operation with County Commissioners Fred C. Peters, Foster C. Hillegass and Raymond K. Mensch, whereby photostatic copies of official papers pertaining to military service may be obtained without charge by men and women in the Armed Forces, by veterans of previous wars, and their dependents.

The plan, as set up by Marshall and the County Commissioners, provides that the above individuals, their dependents or relatives should first contact Raymond L. Hemmerly, Director, Department of Veterans Affairs and Registrar of Veterans Graves in the Montgomery County Court House, whose office will serve as a clearing house for the work.

It was emphasized that the photostatic copies will only be made for use in obtaining copies of Birth, Marriage and Death Certificates and for establishing evidence of military service in connection with the filing of claims for any rights or benefits to which the individuals mentioned above may be entitled under the State or Federal laws.

The Commissioners also pointed out that the services of Hemmerly's office are available to all individuals who have served or are now serving in the Armed Forces of the United States for information or assistance in filing claims for benefits of insurance to which they or their dependents may be entitled.

taxes 50 percent in the past five years, developed fine county parks, built many miles of good roads, including several right here in Narberth at great saving to the Borough. As influential members of the County Republican Organization, they helped select the slate of Organization-endorsed candidates and they are asking the Republican voters to give their approval of this slate on Tuesday.

These candidates are all people of character, integrity and ability who subscribe to the same policies of efficiency and economy in government exemplified by Commissioners Peters and Hillegass. And so we ask your consideration and your "X" for Frederick C. Peters and Foster C. Hillegass for County Commissioners, Mary H. Beerer for Register of Wills, Frank P. K. Barker, our neighbor in Lower Merion, for Controller; John E. Marshall for Recorder of Deeds, Edwin Winner for Treasurer, and Frederick B. Smillie for District Attorney.

Getting down to the local scene for a minute, the only contest in the Republican ranks in Narberth is for Justice of the Peace where the two incumbents, Otto B. Duer and J. Louis Jenkins, are candidates for full terms. There is a contest because Fred Walzer, one-time Justice of the Peace in Narberth who went over to the Democrats during the Earle administration and was rewarded with a $5000 State job as chief dog catcher, wants to get back in harness and on the Republican side of the fence. Fred's support emanates chiefly from a so-called "citizens committee," which, we suspect, exists largely in the active mind of Narberth's versatile citizen, John J. Cabrey. Those cut little verses extolling Fred which adorn the window of the Walzer "headquarters" are straight from J.J.'s fluent pen. The sad part about it all is that J.J. can't vote for his man Tuesday because he is registered non-partisan and only those registered as Republicans or Democrats can vote at the Party elections.

In some campaign publicity in this paper last week, J. J. referred to his man as "the Republican candidate," conveniently overlooking the fact that Duer and Jenkins are candidates also and that two are to be nominated. J. J. also stated in the same place that "the Republican Organization has adopted a hands-off attitude." That may be true as far as any concerted stand or action is concerned by the Narberth members of the County Republican Committee but it does not apply to some of the Committee people as individuals. We suggest you ask John Batchelor, Republican Committeeman in the Second District (where Walzer lives) how he feels about this contest. The Second District is expected to be the center of activity come Tuesday, with not a few citizens inclined to believe some fur will fly.

Otto Duer, who was appointed to the post a couple of years ago by the Governor with the endorsement of the Narberth Republican Committee, has taken the job seriously and studied to fit himself for the post. Lou Jenkins, also appointed by the Governor to fill a vacancy with the approval of the Narberth Republican Committee, is an old resident of the Borough, who is acquainted with its ways and well suited by temperament and inclination for the post.

As for Walzer, we like him and will readily agree that he adds a certain color to the town. But we feel that his talents do not run along magisterial lines and that his somewhat choleric temperament is not well suited to dispensing dispassionate justice.

Activity—The Essence of Happiness

In a small wooden house at Poughkeepsie, New York, lives a courageous man. He walks a bit slowly, but that is my story.

His name is Maynard T. Joy.

One day a coal truck came roaring down upon him, and hurled him twenty feet. He was picked up, rushed to a hospital, and operated on. When he was better, the doctor came hesitatingly to his bedside. And then he told him what he hadn't been able to bring himself to tell before.

Maynard Joy would recover from his wounds and lacerations and broken bones, but he would be blind. Maynard Joy was shocked, crushed. But not beaten, for a spirit like Maynard Joy's is never beaten. He told me.

"At first, I refused to do any of the things that a blind man must do. I just wouldn't be classed as a blind man. But I knew that I would always be blind, and that I must adjust myself to new conditions."

He came to New York, to the American Foundation for the Blind, to try out a typewriter which would write in Braille. He had never seen such a typewriter, so a woman demonstrated it for him. The machine was so difficult to operate that Maynard Joy was struck with an idea. There should be a small, portable operated typewriter for the blind.

Discouragement tumbled down upon him like water on the rocks below Niagara Falls. But he was equal to them. He made a machine. It was crude, almost as noisy as the one he had had demonstrated to him.

He made another. It was better.

Less noisy, much lighter, could be carried around. He was now absorbed in his work. He had a purpose; he no longer thought of his own troubles and affliction. He was borne along on the wings of courage. People began to call him the most cheerful man on the block. And he is exactly that.

He has made five different models; each one has been an improvement over its predecessor.

Wasn't all this striving and planning much better for Maynard Joy than sitting down and feeling sorry for himself? His work has made him happy and he may bestow a blessing upon thousands—yes, millions—of blind people in the world. He did what we all should do; when something happens to us that is beyond our control, we must adjust ourselves to changed conditions.

Suburbs Start Post-War Planning

compared to the township as a whole, and only by condemnation of existing built-up sections could the problem of sufficient space be solved. While no definite plans for coping with the situation have been made, township officials recognize that it is one of the major points to be settled after the war.

In Haverford Township, Delaware County, post-war plans lay the major emphasis on development of extensive park and recreation facilities. The township already owns 100 acres of land which will lend itself to park and playground development, much of it along Cobbs creek. This acreage, added to the playgrounds and park areas already in use, will give Haverford Township a highly creditable proportion of recreation space on a basis of its area and population, according to recommendations of the National Recreation Association. The township's population now stands in the neighborhood of 32,000 with a township area of 10 square miles.

Other post-war plans of Haverford Township include construction of sewers in the Bon Air and Eagle Farms sections, where sewer connections do not now exist, repairing and widening the township's 125 miles of roads, possibly a new township administration building and an addition to the present police station which is now crowded.

An addition to the township's high school plant to include a new gymnasium and cafeteria, as well as more class rooms is also contemplated. This project was planned and ready to start when the war began.

Cheltenham

A comprehensive, long-term plan for postwar development is being worked out in Cheltenham Township, Montgomery County, where Township Manager Harold C. Pike has organized a Post-war planning Commission comprising representatives of the township governing board, school board, zoning commission, civilian defense organizations, churches and civic associations.

As a start on its development program, Cheltenham has filed with the Public Reserve Agency in Washington a list of the projects which are considered most important.

Topping the list is an incinerator, expected to cost about $200,000. Five years ago a bond issue designated to cover the cost of construction to cover the cost of constructing an incinerator was defeated, but the need for it is becoming more and more pressing, according to Pike, and he believes that an educational campaign must be instituted to bring home to the township residents the desirability of having a township incinerator.

Among the other projects on the list are a new township administration building to relieve present over-crowded conditions.

Completion of the township's sewer system at an estimated cost of $250,000, is another project filed by the township. There are many acres of vacant land in the township.

COMMANDO HIKE FOR BOY SCOUTS

Summer Program Closes With Event at Haverford

Main Line Boy Scouts will culminate their summer activity program with a commando obstacle hike, to be held this Saturday, at Haverford College.

The regulation Army commando trail on the college grounds will be used.

Scouts will assemble at 2 P. M. at Ardmore Junction, where the Red Arrow line and the Philadelphia and Western line meet. From here, ship which will be available for residential construction after the war and which is not now reached by sewers. Completion of the system will involve extending the service to Eavever College, to several real estate developments already underway and to some of this vacant land.

Extension of the Tookany Parkway already partially completed, along Tookany Creek, will cost about $98,000 and will provide a beautiful drive as well as a valuable traffic artery through the township.

they will proceed out Haverford Avenue, to the college grounds, in groups of ten, doing Scout's pace, which is a combination walk and run. Those Scouts who wish to pass their test in Scout's pace will go singly, instead of in groups.

Soldiers will demonstrate how to use the commando course, and then the Scouts will be permitted to try it themselves. Following this, there will be short talk on Senior Scouting, by George Roberts, co-chairman of Senior Scouting for the Valley Forge Council, a talk by an Army member, and dismissal by L. B. Curtis, district commissioner.

Ernest Hutchinson, neighborhood commissioner for Ardmore, and Robert Barker, Scoutmaster of Ardmore troop 1, will be in charge.

The Scout troops participated in a swimming meet at the Brookline Country Club in July, and various neighborhood rallies in August. Participation in two of the three summer events is necessary for

RATION REMINDER

GASOLINE—In 17 States of Eastern shortage area A-6 coupons are now good. In states outside of the Eastern shortage area A-7 coupons are good through September 21. All gasoline coupons in the possession of car owners must be endorsed with the owner's license and state of registration.

FUEL OIL—Period 5 coupons in old rations remain good through September 30. Period 1 coupons in new rations are good through December. Occupants of oil-heated homes are urged to return their applications for next year's fuel oil to their ration boards promptly and when issued new rations to place orders with their dealers for summer fill-ups.

SUGAR—Stamp No. 14 good for 5 pounds through October. Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 good for 5 pounds each for home canning purposes through October 31.

SHOES—Stamp No. 18 is good for 1 pair through October 31.

STOVES—Consumer purchases of rationed stoves must be made with a certificate obtained at local War Price and Rationing Boards.

MEATS, FATS—Red stamps X, Y and Z are good through October 2. Brown stamp A becomes good September 12 and remains good through October 2.

PROCESSED FOODS—Blue stamps R, S and T expire September 20. U, V and W now good, expire October 20.

TO START USING RATION BOOK III

The first brown "point stamp" in War Ration Book II will become valid September 12. This Stamp, A, is good for 16 points through October 2. Brown Stamps will become valid on successive Sundays and will always expire on the Saturday nearest the end of the month. They will be used for rationing meats, fats, oils, canned fish, cheese, canned milk, and all other commodities now rationed with red stamps in War Ration Book II. The small stamps bearing pictures of field guns, tanks, ships and airplanes are not yet in use. Anyone who has not received Book III may obtain one by applying to his local ration board.

OVERSEAS CHRISTMAS MAIL

More than 10 million individual Christmas parcels for overseas soldiers are expected in the mailing period, September 15 to October 15. The Army Postal Service will need the full co-operation of the mailing public if packages are to reach soldiers in time. The public is asked to be sure to put the correct overseas mailing addresses on the packages and to wrap them securely, but in such a manner as to permit inspection prior to their dispatch. Every overseas package must be opened, inspected, and re-wrapped at the Port of Embarkation. The Army Postal Service and the U. S. Post Office Department strongly urged that packages be mailed September 15 or immediately thereafter.

RATION POINT CHANGES

Reflecting an improvement in civilian meat supplies, the ration cost of most lamb and bacon cuts, sirloin steak, and rib roasts has been reduced from one to two points for September. In addition, several variety meats also have lower point values. Creamy butter increased two points to 12 points per pound. Country butter, however, has been assigned a value of six points per pound. The purchasing power of meats—fats stamps in September will be a little larger than in August because the decrease in meat point values more than cancels the higher ration cost of creamy butter.

NURSE CORPS FUNDS APPROVED

Funds have been approved to provide complete tuition, fees, stipends, maintenance, and uniforms for an anticipated 10,175 student members of the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps. Over 500 State accredited schools of nursing have applied to the U. S.

Public Health Service for participation in the program. To date, 67 have been approved.

"HOME FRONT PLEDGE"

A nation-wide, cooperative campaign by homemakers and merchants to hold down the cost of living and combat black markets is being conducted by volunteer civic committees in more than 100 communities through local drives to secure signers for a "Home Front" pledge. Nearly one million pledges have been signed already. Those signing agree (1) "I will pay no more than top legal prices" and (2) "I will accept no rationed goods without giving up ration stamps."

FOOD FOR FREEDOM

Emblem of the government war food program is a market basket carried by an arm and hand obviously belonging to Uncle Sam. Over the basket is the theme "Food fights for freedom." Consumers, producers, processors, and distributors are asked to cooperate with the four "guides" to action: (1) produce (more food and of the right variety on farms and in Victory gardens) (2) conserve (don't waste it—preserve fresh perishables—eat the right foods, including substitutes); (3) share (with our fighters and allies—with on another); and (4) play square (co-operate with rationing and legal prices—place the war first and expect to adjust).

To the Editor,
Sir:

Please accept this short letter as a thank you note for the greatly appreciated, useful gifts presented me upon entering the Army. They play a most important part in my daily life at camp.

It is certainly reassuring to know that the people back home are behind us so wholeheartedly. We in uniform will do our part.

Sincerely,
Kenneth J. Lewis.

To the Editor,
Dear Sir:

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to the Narberth Citizens' Committee and to the people of Narberth for their most thoughtful and useful gifts. The spirit behind the box was very encouraging and the contents have proven to be very helpful in our everyday duties.

I shall always be proud of Narberth and the fine reputation and 100 per cent spirit of the "home town." With that spirit we and our country cannot fail. Keep those home fires burning until we get back.

Thank you again.

Workers in the sections of Wynnewood and Ardmore included in South Ardmore No. 3 election district also met Tuesday night at the home of their chairman James F. Swartz, 544 Ballymore Road. The Lieutenants for that area include Newlin F. Davis, Jr., Carlos Perduco, J. G. McI. Bunting, Mrs. Clifford H. Orr, Dr. G. P. Savage and Earl A. Samson.

Gladwyne workers met Wednesday night with Thomas Barnes, 2d, and Guy Cornman in charge of the drive.

Bala-Cynwyd

Also meeting Wednesday night were the Bala-Cynwyd workers, which like Merion, is drawn chiefly from the Air Raid Warden organization. Robert F. Brown, chairman for that community, will be assisted by a steering committee composed of the following: Edwin P. Blair, Sr., Henry Clayton, Joseph H. Buntin, Robert Haslett, Harold R. McCurdy, Miner W. Merleek, David H. Platt, John Pratt, Charles S. Shinn, Eugene F. Zeiner, William M. Buchanan and F. Engle Taylor.

Carl B. Metzger, Jr., chairman for the Borough of Narberth, called his committee together Wednesday night to organize the drive there. Among his Lieutenants are W. James Drennan, Burns F. Best, Douglas Miner, Joseph L. Kelley, Richard Gillis, Charles Harnden, Salvatore Frantantoni and Richard Feno.

The appointment of Clarence K. Bawden, Sr., as district chairman for the general Wayne section was announced this week. Together with Edward L. Forstall, Jr., the Pencoyd chairman, they will cover the Penn Valley area.

HOUSE AND HOME

September is the best time to move ferns, whether you take them from the woods or from the nursery. So if you have a shady corner on the north side of the house where nothing will grow well try filling it in with these lovely green plants.

Nearly all ferns need an acid soil. The Maidenhair will grow in a sweet soil so suit your ferns to the soil if you would have luxuriant growth.

There are two kinds of ferns, each requiring different treatment. Consequently the planting is of great importance. Those which grow from root stocks can be placed deep and firmed into the ground. Those rising from crowns should be planted with the crown level with the surface of the earth. If the local theatres manned by the Emergency Aid are cooperating wholeheartedly in the campaign and their bond sales will be credited to the Lower Merion-Narberth area each week during the drive.

roots are soaked in water for a day to plump them they will start more quickly.

You know a root stock is a thick root—a rhizome. The Beech fern is of this variety.

A crown is a clump-like bunch of roots and stems.

Both varieties can be divided and if you get large clumps from the woods it's a good idea to do this because ferns spread and don't like to be too crowded.

Keep them well watered for several weeks after they are first set out and cover them with a thick mulch of the leaves you rake from the lawn. In other words, try to make their transplanted conditions as near like their natural ones as possible.

Fall is a good time to plant lily bulbs, too, and if you use care in choosing their environment you can rest assured that the bulbs will grow and blossom next year.

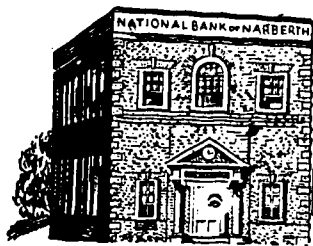

Even if you buy the bulbs from a perfectly reliable dealer it's a good idea to soak them in a disinfectant solution before planting.

Dig the bed about four times as deep as the bulb is high. Cover with a thick layer of sand, put in the bulbs, cover with more sand and then fill the bed with loose earth.

If you are troubled with field mice sprinkle camphor flakes in the sand at the bottom of the bed.

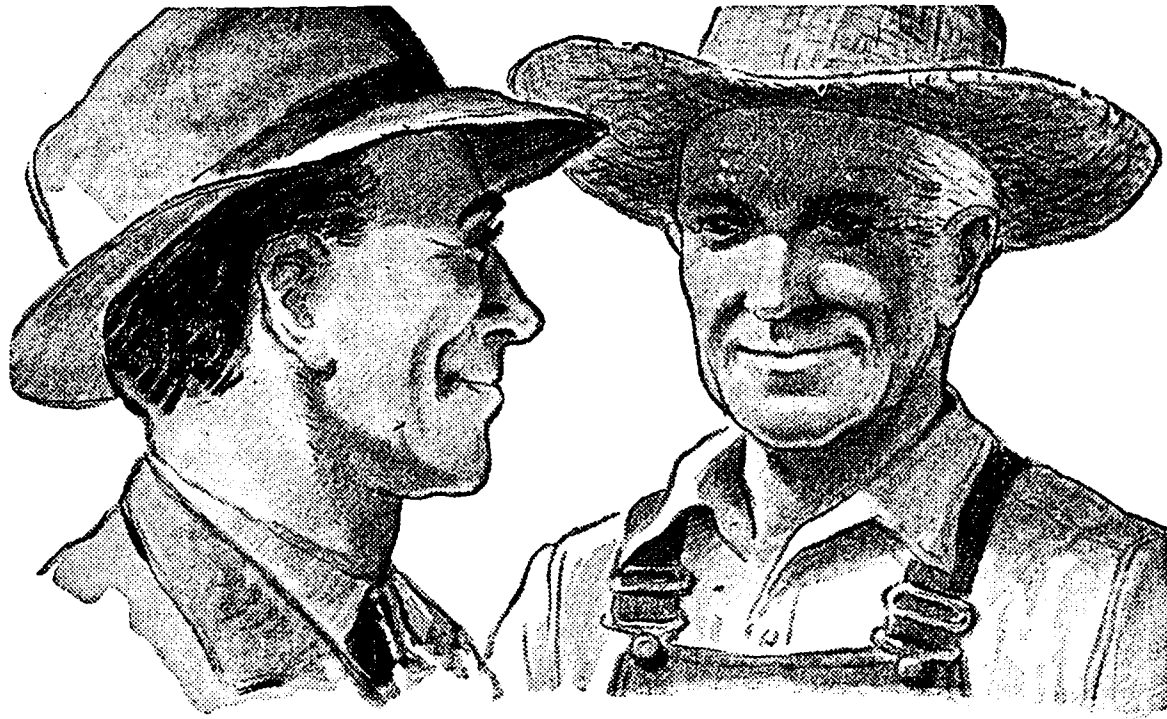

Be sure the bed is well drained because water collecting around the bulbs is dangerous to lilies.

No fishing this year, Roy!

USED TO BE, every Supplee field man knew the farms on his route near the best fishing waters. During the season, come four o'clock after a spell of work in the barns, he and the farmer'd kind'a call it a day and reach for their fishing rods.

Many and profitable were the conversations of those drowsy late afternoons. Good, man-to-man, down-to-earth talk. . .

How a good bull is half the milk-herd in himself. How a fellow that grows and mixes his own silage don't have hell or hot weather to fear. How it's plumb dumb to keep adding a foot to your milk-shed every time the law changes. . . Bust loose and stretch her a clean 10 feet at once! . . .

They say you can tell the Supplee Milk farmers in any district by their balance in the bank. If so, we know those fishing sessions had something to do with it—and, gosh! . . . we're sorry to see them go—

Fact is, our Dr. Roy and Farmer Dudley both are just too busy for fishing now. Meanwhile, a lot of people in this community—soldiers, and war workers, and that bumper crop of babies—have a lot to thank them for!

For an ample supply of good, pure fluid milk flowing into a community in war or peace is not only a civilized blessing—it's a downright necessity. And their efforts over the past decade have enabled us to meet an emergency they didn't know was coming, any more than you did.

As stewards of so much of the local supply of this vital human food, Supplee long ago realized that we must assume two major responsibilities:

1. To improve that supply.
2. To distribute it more efficiently so that more people can get better milk at the lowest possible cost.

That is the reason for Doctor Roy and 14 more Supplee graduate doctors, all practical farm men, who shoulder the problems of better breeding, better building and feeding and management right alongside their farmer friends.

Actually, with fewer cows, Supplee this year will supply more improved milk than ever in our history.

The nation's emergency may possibly change or limit your supply. But nothing can change the policies that produced it. Under any circumstances, Supplee Milk will still be the best milk you can buy.

speech to and for the German people, rather than to their leaders. Political-minded Germans, he said, want to know what hope they may have in the future economic world, and if any hope were held out to them, the millions of Germans not in sympathy with Nazism would exert sufficient pressure to bring about Hitler's downfall.

"America must not fail in its opportunity as the strongest power at the end of this war," he declared, quoting Churchill's statement, "Great power means great responsibility."

Sollman was introduced by Dr. Barclay Jones, chairman of the International Service Committee of the club. President George W. R. Kirkpatrick presided and announced that at next week's meeting, Leonard Paret, District Governor, will be present.
